Play along with the ace Ronaldinho and become a star in SocceR10

Brazilian company announces its social soccer game.

BELO HORIZONTE (May 22th, 2014)

Perfect your skills and learn the tricks of the Brazilian soccer in the newest free-to-play game from Ilusis Interactive Graphics. In SocceR10 you start as a talented player aiming to become a world soccer star. The game mixtures strategic planning and fast matches with a fun team gameplay. But if you find it difficult, you may count with the help of the soccer star Ronaldinho Gaucho to teach you the secrets.

In SocceR10 each player has its own training center, where you can build structures to improve speed, technique, power and endurance. As you train you will also get special Focus power-ups. Focus can be used during matches to improve your skills and overcome more advanced opponents. Other attributes such as Fame, will affect you performance and unlock new structures.

Besides single player matches, the game also features a team mode. You can build a team with your friends to engage on special tournaments, access unique training structures and win prizes.
